

David B. Chenkin, MANAGING PARTNER

David B. Chenkin is ZEK's Managing Partner and chair of the firm's Government Investigations, White Collar Defense and Anti-Money Laundering Group.

For more than forty years, Mr. Chenkin has represented global corporations and senior executives in complex litigation and government investigations. He has counseled clients in significant investigations conducted by the United States Congress and by federal, state and local prosecutors and regulators. Chenkin is nationally recognized for expertise in anti-money laundering ("AML")/financial crime compliance and is certified as an Anti-Money Laundering Specialist by ACAMS (which is not affiliated with any governmental authority). He also frequently collaborates with other firms whose clients face government investigations, financial crime/AML/sanctions-related inquiries, civil litigation and prosecutions.

Chenkin is a frequent speaker on various government investigation/financial crime related topics. He also provides investigation training to global companies, other law firms, the U.S. Congress and federal, state and local law enforcement. He is a two-time recipient of the Department of Homeland Security's HSI - New York Citizen's Legacy Award, received for his efforts in counseling HSI agents in building relationships in the financial community and contributing to forging the HSI legacy by exhibiting the core values of honor, service, and integrity.
